Sunday 13th April

The Round Robins Roll On

With forty per cent of the Round Robin completed patterns are beginning to emerge. In the Open Championship Bangladesh are more than a match ahead of the others, India is in second place with Pakistan and UAE neck and neck ten VPs behind. No one is yet out of contention.

For the Seniors, Pakistan and India are a long way clear of the field, The other two semi-final places at the moment are being disputed by Bangladesh, Saudi Arabia and UAE.

India is atop the Womens Championship, a dozen points ahead of UAE, then some way back are Pakistan and Jordan looking likely contenders to play in the semi-finals.

The Mixed Championship is dominated by UAE and India who are over a match and a half ahead of the other three teams, so one of those three will not make the semi-finals.

We cannot yet count out any team but those languishing towards the bottom of their tables need up their game from now on.

The BBO matches for Sunday 13th April are as follows:

Match 01 - 10.00 Open: India vs. UAE & Women: Jordan vs. Pakistan

Match 02 - 14.00 Open: Sri Lanka vs. Bangladesh & Seniors: Bangladesh vs. Saudi

Match 03 - 16.50 Open: India vs. Bangladesh & Mixed: Saudi Arabia vs. UAE

While you are doubtless bathed in sunshine, here in Shrewsbury I am still waiting for the Sun King to appear. It promises to be an exciting start to the day, as we feature the teams in second and third place in the Open and the leaders against third in the Mixed.

On the second deal of the day E/W held ♠A6 ♥KQJ108 ♦AK97 ♣108 opposite ♠J ♥A965 ♦653 ♣KQ632. After East opened 1♣ and West responded 1♥ North overcalled 1♠. If the ♣A is onside (or the clubs are breaking) then 6♥ is where you want to be, but the slam was not reached at our featured tables. North had ♠KQ10983 ♥42 ♦Q2 ♣A74 so 12 tricks were straightforward.

When declarer continued with a club East took the ♣A and switched to the ♦J, declarer winning, cashing the ♣K and ruffing a spade. East over-ruffed with the ♥J and returned the ♣J, ruffed and overruffed with dummy's ♥Q. When declarer continued with a diamond East discarded, which meant only one down, -50 but it was 10 IMPs for India.

I was just starting to type up the auction at this table when the table closed down. Various attempts were made to restore it, but all the data from the deals could no longer be seen. That meant I would have to wait to see if that partial segment would appear in the BBO archive if I wanted details of the play.

What I can tell you is that the defenders did not manage to cash out, declarer recording +420.

As a small aside, if East feels compelled to lead a club, the ♣2 is a possibility. Here declarer would be likely to play dummy's ♣3, hoping East started with a suit headed by the ♣Q9 or ♣J9.

That is the auction we are supposed to believe. Obviously not.

While I was typing the result from the other room changed to 2♠+1, so what happened on this deal appeared to be anyone's guess.

However, it transpired that Boards 25 and 26 had been mis duplicated, and the results were cancelled.

West might have bid 5♥ over 5♦, but perhaps took into account the possibility of bad breaks following South's intervention.

South led the ♥6 and declarer won in dummy, played a spade to the king and a second spade to the ace, +980.

As the cards lie, to make 7♠ you must play for spades to be 4-1, taking a second round finesse of the jack, after which you can play to ruff a heart. It is a moot point if you should do this after South's 3♣.

By the time the players took their seats for Round 5, the sun was in fine form (at least it was in Shrewsbury). Would the representatives of Sri Lanka, Pakistan, Bangladesh and India be able to match that?

In the long run, it must be right to respond with North's hand. Alternatively I know some players who would be willing to start with 2♦/2♠, notwithstanding the vulnerability.

It was a narrow win for Pakistan and a good one for India.

♠ 8 ♥ Q1086542 ♦ J6 ♣ AJ4

I noticed this hand from the third session on Friday and saw that the commentary said 6♥ was makeable. It was obvious that it would not be bid but I could not see how to make it on a diamond lead (any other lead just duck a spade and ruff a spade and the queen of spdes is good for a diamond discard).

I investigated further and it took me some while before I found the solution before verifying it with my finessing friend.

Win the diamond lead in dummy and take an immediate successful club finesse. When you see the ♣10 fall from West there is now a distribution of the cards that will bring success.

To bring home the contract you must cross to dummy by cashing the ace and king of trumps and then lead the ♣8 forcing East to cover. Now you run all your trumps and on the last one East has to discard from ♠AK ♣Q6. If he discards a spade you throw him in to lead into your club tenace and should prefer to jettison a club dummy's two clubs are good and you have made your contract with a squeeze without the count and that does not happen every day.

I hope you noticed that when you cashed the top two trumps you retained the ♥2 in your hand. otherwise East will not cover the ♣8 and the suit is blocked and you have no way back to dummy.

All you needed to make your contract was West to hold the singleton ♣9 or ♣10 and East to hold the ♠AK and trumps to be 2-1.
